Eliminate Angle Parking

In keeping with the recent abolition of angle parking in the Newtonville area, it appears reasonable and proper that the same action be taken now at Newton Corner, particularly as it relates to Centre street between Richardson street and the Corner proper.

Angle parking, at best, is a hazard to the life and property of everyone. This type of parking is a throwback to the horse and buggy days, when the farmer coming to town for supplies, hitched his horse to a post on an angle in a manner such as now prevails in various sections of Newton in the parking of automobiles.

Little can be said for the value of angle parking. The theory that it permits more automobiles to be parked in a given area than does parallel parking, is debatable. True, a few more cars might be parked in this manner if the drivers obeyed the space markings painted at the curbs, but few do. Yet even if they did, angle parking, particularly in and around Newton Corner, is dangerous and this is particularly true of Centre street.

Cars in backing out, invariably tie up through traffic and many times have we witnessed cars coming in a direct line along Centre street swerve out sharply into the wrong lane rather than wait a minute or two until the correct lane was cleared.

The Graphic believes that all angle parking of automobiles in Newton should be abolished as speedily as possible and we further believe that the installation of parking meters throughout the business sections of the city should become an immediate reality.

There may be arguments against the establishment of parking meters but if there are, we have heard of no valid ones.

If parking meters are installed throughout the business sections of the city we believe merchants in all areas will benefit. It does merchants no good to have a car, or cars parked, in many instances, all day long in front of their stores and yet, despite careful supervision by the police department, this is probably being done.

Establishment of parking meters, in our opinion, offers a fair and impartial solution to the parking problem, and at the same time will add revenue to the city's treasury. Persons who desire to park in or near certain business establishments, will raise no objection to spending a few pennies for parking privileges while doing their shopping. In fact, it has been our experience that the installation of parking meters makes for more and better business for the merchants in areas where such meters are installed. The cost of policing areas with parking meters, we believe, will prove slight compared to the revenue derived.

Yet it is not of this point that we speak. We honestly believe that parking meters is the answer, and the fair answer, to all parking problems in business districts.

By all means, let proper officials take immediate steps to eliminate angle parking at Newton Corner, and other sections also, immediately and let steps be taken as soon as possible to install parking meters in all business sections of this city.

If this is done we believe a much more satisfactory solution of the parking problem will result.

Is Newton Prepared?

Is Newton prepared to meet Infantile Paralysis effectively? Or will the victims of this dread disease suffer unnecessarily and lose precious recovery possibilities for the lack of hospital facilities and trained care?

The Graphic has asked Francis Murphy, city chairman of the 1949 March of Dimes campaign, for information on these questions which affect all our readers since polio strikes without regard to geographic location, race or color.

Mr. Murphy gave a re-assuring reply. He declared that a preparedness program is an integral part of the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It is many sided and includes fighting units such as epidemic aid teams and pools of equipment for speedy transmission to any stricken area.

"The equipment pools," Mr. Murphy said, "stand ready at six centrally located points fully outfitted with iron lungs, hot-pack machines, and special devices necessary in hospital treatment in stricken areas. The epidemic aid teams are located at four points and comprise trained personnel for polio care."

"Another side of the preparedness program is educational," Mr. Murphy said. Thus, the National Foundation has distributed educational pamphlets to parents through the cooperation of the nation's schools. They list precautionary measures for those in epidemic areas who are not stricken as well as advice on what to do if polio invades the home.

Mr. Murphy stressed that these services are financed through part of the funds raised during the March of Dimes. "The 1944 Infantile Paralysis Epidemic in North Carolina and the subsequent outbreak there last year showed the great need for preparedness program."

North Carolina chapters were caught unprepared by the mysterious and murderous outbreak of 1944. They fought back with all their own means and the full support of National Headquarters. They fought with volunteers. They witnessed the now famous "March of Hickory" where 275-bed hospital and staff was put in operation within the space of 90 days.

North Carolina also learned that it no longer could depend on miracles, Chairman Murphy said. A series of conferences resulted in a preparedness plan which made available a chain of hospital treatment centers placed within reasonable driving distances from the homes of possible patients. The plan was put to the test last year when polio hit the state with three-fold the 1944 force. Last year, all patients were hospitalized at these centers.

The importance of preparedness was brought home to local chapters last year. Last spring, the National Foundation sponsored a series of 300 Poliomyelitis conferences throughout the country to coordinate the long range fighting against polio. They were real grass-root gatherings. A leading agenda topic was the determination of primary centers and designation of certain hospitals to be used in case of emergency.

Such preparations can do much to reduce the impact of the disease once it strikes. They will minimize the gains and cripple effects of polio. However, it must be remembered that the work is all done solely through the March of Dimes.

The coming drive through Jan. 31 must be our most successful to date. The protection of the individual home, the community, the state and the nation is at stake.

Notes and Comments

It will be bad for the internationalists if the United States runs out of money.

International Friendship Being Fostered By Students Of Newton High School

An interesting way to encourage international friendship and goodwill is through school correspondence. For two years Newton High School has been working on such a project, its correspondent being the College Moderne Et Technique De Jeunes Filles, a secondary school in Toulouse, France. Arrangements were made through the Boston office of the American Friends Service Committee, headed by Dr. Alfred Stearns, retired headmaster of Exeter Academy.

Better to Be Late Warns Chief Purcell

"Better late than never, ease up in a freeze-up, and winterize your driving habits."

Pulling old and new sayings out of his hat, Chief of Police Philip Purcell this week used them as warnings to all drivers as winter weather threatens to increase automobile accidents.

"The nation's mileage death rate is usually greatest during snow and ice months," the Chief declared, "and the major factors that cause this are poor traction and reduced visibility. If motorists will drive a little slower and give more consideration to these added winter driving hazards, there will be fewer accidents and traffic tie-ups."

In stressing the dangers faced when snow or ice prevail, Chief Purcell cited special studies and tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. "These tests show that it takes a car without tire chains, travelling only 20 miles per hour, 70 to 80 feet to stop on packed snow."

This is about 4 times what it takes a car to stop on dry pavement. So, "he added, "if snow or ice covers the streets, use tire chains, or wait until conditions improve. Chains on rear wheels enable you to stop in 40 feet on packed snow."

The National Safety Council's studies also stressed that stopping on ice is even more dangerous. The report said a car traveling 20 miles per hour without chains may skid from 170 to over 200 feet. Tire chains on the rear wheels will reduce this to about 80 feet.

"Poor visibility, the official stated, "can be improved a lot by properly working windshield wipers, defrosters and correctly aimed headlights."

As an aid to winter driving, especially when snow or ice are on the streets, Chief Purcell lists 7 safe driving rules. They are:

1. Get the "feel" of the road when starting out.
2. Adjust your speed to road conditions.
3. Use tire chains on snow or ice.
4. Clear snow, ice, fog or frost off windshields and windows.
5. Slow down at intersections and curves.
6. Keep a safe distance between vehicles.
7. Use signals when turning or stopping.

"Follow these rules, use your head—and we'll have fewer accidents and injuries," concluded the Chief.

Polio Cases Showed Decrease in 1948

Almost 104,000 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the Mass. Dept. of Public Health during 1948. Dr. Roy Feemster, director of the Division of Communicable Diseases, announced today.

This figure is approximately 25 per cent higher than that of the previous year but only slightly higher than 1946. The 1948 prevalence is much lower than that of 1943 when 138,000 cases of communicable diseases were reported.

"The high prevalence of 1948 is largely due to an excess of more than 30,000 in reported cases of measles, mumps and scarlet fever compared to the previous year," Dr. Feemster explained. "On the other hand, there was a considerable drop in the number of cases of whooping cough reported."

Diphtheria declined from 433 cases in 1947 to 275 in 1948, due to the speeding up of diphtheria immunization programs. The disease continues to be prevalent, however, in Boston and the communities immediately north in spite of these immunization programs. The number of adults affected has been on the increase.

Poliomyelitis dropped to 175 cases during 1948 after four years of increased prevalence.

Dr. Feemster pointed out that cases of trichinosis continued to occur in spite of many warnings that all pork products should be thoroughly cooked. Also, cases of undulant fever continued to be discovered primarily in those who preferred to use raw milk instead of pasteurized. The downward trend in pulmonary tuberculosis has been temporarily arrested, a slight increase in cases being reported during 1948.

Vaccination against smallpox has kept the disease out of the state for almost 17 years. Good sanitation continues to keep typhoid fever at a very low level.

Mrs. John S. Olcott and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hutchinson (Martha Olcott) left for their home in Monroville, Ohio, Tuesday, after a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. William R. Newton (Mary Olcott) of Waban.

PLENTY OF FREE PARKING SPACE IN OUR OWN PARKING LOT

To the American people the Statue of Liberty symbolizes a heritage of freedom bought by generations of our forefathers through hard work, sacrifice and clear thinking. Young men have laid their good lives down to preserve it. Tyranny abroad and malice within our borders have sought to imperil it. The Statue of Liberty continues to uphold the torch that enlightens the world.

But liberty is not only a heritage, it is a fresh conquest for each generation. In a few years the youth of today will take part in that conquest. Our country will be given into their hands. They will run our farms, conduct our business, manage and work in our factories, lead us spiritually, make our laws and deal with world affairs.

Upon their shoulders we are laying a burden heavier than any ever imposed on any generation of American youth. Their problems, foreign and domestic, will far surpass those with which we struggle today. Will they deal wisely and fairly with their responsibilities? Will they live by the faith of our forefathers in the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man?

That depends largely upon the resources which we of the older generation give them here and now; upon the effectiveness of their schools, the vitality of their churches, the influence of their homes, the quality of the ideals presented in their books, motion pictures, radio programs, and by their associates in their daily lives.

In 1950 the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate its Fortieth Anniversary. We believe that this is the time for a Crusade by America's leading youth movement to surpass its best previous records in outreach and in program. This means that by the end of 1950, Scouting should be at the very peak of preparedness for its usefulness to the Nation. And it means that every boy in Scouting will have a richer, more stimulating experience, with a broader opportunity to do those things which build strong character and good citizenship. Thus Scouting will do its part to strengthen the Arm of Liberty; to uphold the torch that enlightens the world.

Meet to Discuss New Blood Donor Program

A meeting tonight (Thursday) has been scheduled to discuss the new organization of the Red Cross Blood Program. For the past two years the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross has participated in a Blood Program—first, on a state-wide basis, and now nationally. This program is financed by the Red Cross and the basic principle is to supply whole blood and its by-products to individuals without charge.

The problem of procuring the blood still looms up as a challenge and plans are now under way which should help to bring this challenge to a successful climax. Letters have gone out this week to organizations, industries and business firms asking them to join in this community project by supplying only one donor each time the Mobile Unit visits Newton. Some organizations have already indicated their enthusiasm and interest, and the general feeling is that every organization can provide one donor. If it is impossible for the members themselves to find a father or sister. Mathematically, this plan should provide sufficient donors to meet the blood needs of the City of Newton which have been set by the hospital and physicians. This figure has been arrived at by multiplying the number of beds in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital by six pints of blood per bed. A large committee has been set up to implement this new plan.

Y Chess Club Holds Rapid Transit Games

Wm. Cushing Loring was master of ceremonies ably assisted by Russell Fitz, Dr. Cameron Rae, M. Cary Hayward, Judge Thomas Weston, Lester Gee, and Arvid Swenson in the adjudication of games in which they were not contestants.

In Rapid Transit the first five moves must be made in five seconds each, subsequent moves in ten seconds each, after fifty moves unfinished games are adjudicated. You must be an alert, experienced chess player to last long in such a contest. Some members preferred to play regular chess, others to watch individual rugged contests. However fourteen experienced players competed in six rounds, the winners each time matched against the winners and the losers against the losers. A player losing two and a half games is eliminated. Results: Richard Bean, first. Dr. Cameron Rae, second. N. Cary Hayward, third. Russell Fitz, fourth. Lester Gee, fifth.

It was Open House at the "Y", Youth was everywhere, consequently several sons of members visited Chess quarters. A most interesting game was played between Vincent Hoagland Jr., son of the president of the Chess Club, eight and a half years old, against Douglas Wood, twelve years old, son of Everett Wood of Westwood. Their interest, concentration and knowledge of the game was quite remarkable playing there in the midst of a room full of adult players quite unimpaired of their surroundings. Their game lasted over half an hour and when your reporter last observed them, they were well along in the end game with about an equal number of pieces remaining on the board.

Special announcement: The Newton "Y" Chess Club in cooperation with the city wide Y. M. C. A. Boys' secretary, Mr. Dwight Robinson, will offer instruction in Chess in the "Y". Starting in the early part of January, under the able and experienced leadership of Mr. Wm. Cushing Loring, artist and teacher for more than twenty-five years, and Mr. D. Leighton Ordway, Engineer and M. I. T. graduate. They will be assisted as need may require by Judge Thomas Weston, Mrs. Russell Fitz, well known instructor of mathematics in the Newton High School and captain of the Newton "Y" Chess team in Class "A" division, now tied with Harvard University for first place, and aided also by Dr. Cameron Rae who already has taught chess to many of Newton's boys and young men. Call Mr. Dwight Robinson, Boy's secretary at the "Y" for further information. Watch the bulletin board in your school building. Watch for information in the Newton Graphic to be announced in the near future.

Mass. & R. I. Tri-Hi-Y Cabinets to Meet

Over thirty members of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island H-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Cabinet will meet at the Newton Y.M.C.A., 276 Church street, Newton Corner, Saturday and Sunday, January 8 and 9, Dwight R. Robinson, Acting-Boys' Work Secretary, reported.

John H. Lehman, State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, will address the opening session speaking on the topic, "What's This All About?" Elaine Kostaras, National Hi-Y Council Secretary, will speak at the evening session on "Highlights From the National Hi-Y Congress". Allen S. Ellsworth, Two-State Hi-Y Secretary, will preview the work and make assignments.

Officers of the six district Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Councils with their adult advisors will attend this work session of the Cabinet. Delegates will be housed in Newton homes. "Taxpayers' members know that on an organized and informed citizenry can force the hedge-podge of 'Statacracy' into reasonable and proper channels. Continual and alert inquiry, examination and constructive counter-proposals are needed to control the Topsy-like growth of the governmental jungle.

"Since most people just are too busy making a living to have the time to keep abreast of all the new growths themselves, they can adequately protect their interests as individuals only by forming themselves into a group to pool their information and then to act.

"Taxpayers' Associations in this state and across the country have proven themselves to be the best spearhead for cooperative action by individual citizens who have a property stake in their community and Newton citizens know that fact. Our campaign is to remind them of it, and to seek the active support of at least 2,000 Newtonians."

A Shopping I Would Go!

By PATRICIA PATENAUE

The holidays came and went so fast that I'm just now putting the decorations in moth-balls and settling down to a more peaceful life. With the young 'uns back to school and dad deep in the throes of business, January is apt to be a dull month. But you can do the trick and make January as jolly as December. I'd like to give you a few tips that are sure to tide you over.

First of all, keep things cheerful at home by planning some new and different meals, and sometimes putting a bowl of gay flowers on the table. If you're lucky enough to have a fireplace, then use it to your heart's content. A big roaring fire, with a supply of marshmallows nearby, makes home a comfy, cozy place on cold, wintry nights. I don't have to tell the youngsters that skating and sledding are fun but perhaps you need to be reminded. Plan a skating party, with cocoa and sandwiches winding it up in fine style at your house. There are a million more things, like dashing off to the theatre, starting a gin-rummy contest at home, or, well, how about you setting your mind to work on some "fun ideas?" And, you know, you too will probably have the best time ever. Happy January.

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAW
Landlord and Tenant: Liability For Defects

By Arthur W. Blakemore, Attorney
(The right to print, or reprint, any or all of these articles, is prohibited without permission of the author)

There has been much litigation over the landlord's liability for defects in the premises and your attorney's opinion should be taken in each case.

It is often said that the tenant takes the premises as he finds them when rooms are let unfurnished, and this may be stated more accurately that the landlord is not liable to repair or improve the premises beyond the condition in which they appear to be at the time of letting.

The landlord should be careful that there are no defects in common passageways or stairways open to all, as there is plain liability for such defects to one rightfully there who is injured by them. Although the landlord is not bound to make repairs, still he may be held liable if he makes them negligently.

The landlord will not usually be liable for injuries arising out of hidden defects in the premises unless he knew of them and failed to notify the tenant. Failure to light properly common passageways may create liability on the landlord when such lighting is required by law.

Suppose the janitor leaves a mop or pail in a dark passage-way and some old lady falls over it and breaks her hip and can never walk again. Suppose some tenant leaves a pail in a passage-way and the janitor does not discover it for some time. These and other possibilities are so dangerous that it is now common practice for landlords of apartment or commercial buildings to insure against public liability.

Home owners whose houses set back from the street do not usually need insurance if they will take care that their porches and steps are in good condition.

There is in general no liability for the presence of snow and ice formed naturally but there may be where ice forms from a defective water pipe or drain, or where ice forms on the roof and falls on a passerby. Here the question is more complicated, but in general it is the rule that, if the tenant hires the whole building, he, rather than the landlord, is liable; while in the case of the ordinary apartment house with suites rented to various tenants, the landlord will be held as being in control and therefore as being liable for such injuries.

Friendship—

College Moderne et Technique as all the latter's buildings and equipment were destroyed in World War II by the retreating German forces. Since the liberation, pupils have been attending school in an old factory building. Not only have they great physical needs but spiritual ones as well. They need friendship more than almost anything else and the feeling that there are student friends in the U.S.A. who take a personal interest in their welfare.

Last year over 200 Newton boys and girls corresponded with students in the College Moderne et Technique. This year an additional 100 names have been received which have been assigned to interested Newton students. This year, too, the girls of the Newton Junior College are writing to their equivalent group in Toulouse.

Newton High School girls, working with the school librarian, Miss Elvajan Hall, selected the following periodicals to be sent to students of Newtonville: American Girl, Coronet, Life, Senior Scholastic and Seventeen. Thirty-six books, all "easy reading" were also sent to give a picture of American life and customs. Those which have proved the greatest favorites, according to the headmistress, include: Rainbow Mother Goose, Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, American Songbook, Our Country's Story, Story of New England, Story of the Mississippi, Little Women and Your Manners Are Showing.

An additional 36 books are being sent in January, 1949.

You Will Never Miss It

Two weeks ago the New Year was greeted throughout the Nation with prayer and song and dance. We said good-bye to 1948, extended a welcoming hand to the new year and exchanged mutual expressions of help with our friends that the New Year would prove Happy and Prosperous.

At the same time, the great majority of Americans gave some thought to New Year resolutions. Most of us might even have kept some of them right up to this "late date." But if we did not, there is still a chance to redeem ourselves right now.

There is one resolution every man, woman, and child should make and keep. It is an easy one. It entails little or no sacrifice. It will give you a grand feeling but, more important, it will help bring back to health youngsters you may know or have heard of or perhaps never even knew existed.

That resolution is simply to join the March of Dimes. Dimes and Dollars given to the 1949 appeal of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis will enable this organization to rebuild Chapter funds exhausted during last year's polio epidemics which were comparable to the worst epidemics in history—those of 1916.

You will never miss the Dime or Dollar you contribute. Resolve now to give generously to the March of Dimes. You may be sure you will share in the prayers of thousands of youngsters. You will write the score of a song of a brighter future. Yes, those polio stricken children may even be able to dance again because you helped.

The Party Line

Nobody can complain this winter about snow removal in the City of Newton, so it looks as though we can't start this column off with a bang by leaping all over the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen and the Street Commissioner, the District Foreman and Freddie Guzzi, for the deplorable condition of the streets. Speaking of the Mayor, last year at this time, there were several hats bobbing around in the ring and the campaigns for Mayor were firmly launched. It would seem that even though many agree that Mayor Lockwood is a strong political figure, someone would have announced by this time even for the notoriety if nothing else. There are many rumors circulating about the city concerning aspirants for the nine thousand per year that the Mayor's job pays. The receiver was down one day last week, when a former department head of the city sounded off at great length on the duties of a Mayor, how much Newton needed a change in administration, and how he would do things if he were in the City Hall. Either the reception was poor or he did not talk loud enough, because it was not quite clear as to whether he is a candidate or not. Several folks have it that Senator Lee should be a candidate for Mayor. This the Senator denies, and it seems illogical that he would relinquish his position as the undisputed Republican leader of Newton to assume the headaches of the City Hall. The word undisputed is used because there is not much doubt in the minds of many Newtonians that the old form and style of doing business as a Republican was appropriately interred last Fall. It might be noted that Senator Lee was chosen by his fellows in the Senate to present the Republican compromise in the present deadlock which was of course turned down. It is still an honor to be chosen Republican spokesman in the Massachusetts Senate. Don't be at all surprised if the Democrats should break on that deadlock. Both parties held caucuses on inauguration day and the Republicans have to a man gotten solidly behind Republican Richardson, and it is reported that unless a compromise is reached, there will be no break in the ranks. However, the Democrats are in a little different position. There is some doubt as to Senator Dolan's standing. He is, of course, a Bostonian and many out-of-towners are extremely jealous of Boston's place in the sun as a result of the Democratic sweep when it was a state-wide effort that changed the administration. Some Democrats would ditch Dolan in a minute for Senator Nolan (D) of Holyoke, and it is around that figure that the Democrats will explode, if they do.

Hopping back to the local picture for a few seconds, if anyone is in the market for a good cook, drop in to Engine 4 of the fire department in Newtonville, some noontime when Hoseman Morrissey has on the white hat and long apron. He really can put out a fine dinner, and all the firemen on his shift are beginning to look like milk fed turkeys from Al's gastronomic meditations. This week Mayor Lockwood appointed a temporary chief and a temporary deputy on the department, and they are probably his choice for the permanent appointments which will come up when Chief Keating's retirement is effective. Both men are recognized top notch fire fighters and their appointments are definitely for the good of the department.

The North Street dump is back in the news again. We hope that some day the residents of the Cheese Cake Brook section will lay down their spears and make peace with the owners of the old dump. As it comes to us, the old North Street dump is a large area zoned for manufacturing. As long as the owners paid taxes on it and didn't use it, nobody cared whether it was in the manufacturing or temperate zone. A couple of enterprising young

Chief Praises Local School Patrols

Chief Philip Purcell of the Newton Police Department extends a word of praise to our Junior School Patrols, composed of the students of our elementary schools, on their work and training in safety on the highways.

These are the children motorists may see stationed at many of the school crossings with their white traffic belts and junior police badges, aiding other pupils at crossings.

The Chief states that the department, co-operating with the School Department and other branches of the safety councils are extending an extensive program of this type, not only for the protection angle but the practical training and experience they receive while performing these duties.

In a brief description, our schools assemble the juniors and

Newton's Share of Budget $39,995,319

Figured on its proportion of the national income, Massachusetts' share of the proposed $41,848,000,000 federal budget for 1950 submitted to Congress Monday would be $1,523,621,000, the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers have announced.

A further breakdown of this enormous sum by the Federation shows that, if the federal budget were apportioned on a valuation basis, Newton's share would be $39,995,319.

Senator Lee Signs Majority Report

SENATOR LEE

The Special Commission on Workmen's Compensation Laws has filed its report with the Clerk of the Senate. This report shows that the Commission split 5-2.

The majority report signed by Senator Lee of Newton, Chairman, and four others recommends certain administrative changes in the Industrial Accident Board, such as longer terms for board members. They recommend that the present five year terms be changed to nine years with one term expiring each year. As it is now two terms often expire the same year.

The majority also recommend higher benefits for widows of workmen killed on the job and a shorter waiting period before benefits begin. They also increase payments for loss of an arm above the elbow. At present

Opinion Favors Parallel Parking

At the dinner meeting of the Newton Corner Business and Professional Men's Association held at the Y.M.C.A., Tuesday night, the consensus of opinion among those present was that angle parking in the area should be eliminated in favor of parallel parking and that parking meters should be installed as speedily as possible.

In opening the meeting, President Murray G. Marble stressed the fact that the main business of the evening would be devoted to the parking problem at Newton Corner. He stated that in calling on Inspector William H. New Bassinet Units Arrive at Hospital

There will be a "new look" for the new born in the great Newton-Wellesley Hospital of tomorrow. Facilities for the care of your future baby are included in the new type "individual care" bassinets, which mark another step toward perfection in infant care, according to Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, director of the hospital.

Fifty of these new bassinet units arrived at the hospital recently as a contribution of the Hospital Aid Association for the hospital's enlargement and modernization program. Made of tubular iron pipe, each unit is individually designed with a cabinet equipped with every facility required for the care of your baby. Since diapers, safety pins, medications—everything needed for the infant's own comfort and care—are stored in his own private bassinet unit, contact with other babies is minimized and thus any possible danger of infection is greatly reduced.

Has the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Made Your Will?

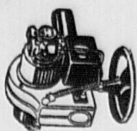

If you have not made a will, the laws of your state say who will get your property and in what shares. Your wife, for example, may get a smaller share of your property than your children. Your property may go to people you don't want to have it.

You can make sure that the right people receive your property by making a will. Have it drawn by your lawyer so that it meets all legal requirements.

For your family's protection—make a will.

Richard Whorf at Copley Theatre in "Richard III" Tragedy

Richard Whorf, one of Massachusetts' favorite sons and an eminent actor and director in the theatre and motion pictures, returns to Boston for a personal appearance in the title role of Shakespeare's great tragedy, "Richard III," for a two-week engagement at the Copley Theatre beginning Monday evening, January 17.

This is the new, dynamic, swiftly-paced production which Mr.
Whorf and Richard Barr have especially devised and which is destined to move from Boston to Broadway where advance rumors have it that electrified audiences will see it before 1949 is a much older year.

Mr. Whorf, besides preparing the overall production and appearing at the head of a large
New York cast, has designed the settings. This is an easy chore for Mr. Whorf, who, with his brother, John, is considered an outstanding painter. Mr. Whorf's home was, for years, in Boston's suburban Winthrop.

Mr. Whorf's work in the theatre as an actor is well known for his supporting roles to Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne, and his motion picture tasks have included acting and direction of some of the important pictures of the past few years.

In addition to Richard Whorf in the title role of "Richard III," the play will also have in its distinguished cast the following:
Philip Bourneuf, Frances Reid,
Grace Coppin, Will Kuba, William Nichols, Polly Rowles, Michael Slay, Joseph Foley, Robert
Harris and Walter Appier.

Evening performances at the Copley begin at 8:30 and the matinees on Thursday and Saturday start at 2:30.

A new, lowered price scale is in effect for this production.

Boston Chapter Of The 36th Division Will Join Reunion

Boston Chapter members of the famed 36th Division are currently planning to attend the national reunion of all former division men and attached units which will take place in New York City in May.

The news of the New York gathering was received with enthusiasm at the recent meeting of the Boston chapter, since previous reunions were all held in Texas—a distance to travel that prevented many New Englanders from being present.

The New York Chapter has already received word from all sections of the country that New York is considered to be an ideal central point for the gathering.

A state reunion, in preparation for the national conclave, will be held in February to map detailed plans for active participation of Massachusetts units in the event.

fluence and pushing "No Man's Land" as far as possible from the heart of Russia. This she is doing by creating chaos, despair and misery in the Democratic countries. "On the whole, the masses of the people will only turn their hearts and minds to Communism when misery and despair have been created", Dr. Gezork warned.

Russia does not want war at the present time for several reasons. She has not yet recovered from the terrific sacrifices made since 1914 and will think twice before destroying her present peace. Furthermore, she is well aware of the tremendous industrial potentiality of the United States and fears the atom bomb.

The people of Europe do not want Communism unless they feel that their fate is so hopeless that they must throw themselves into it as a last hope, he continued. They are just now realizing that they have exchanged the Nazis for the "Com-mies". The behaviour of Russian troops in Germany has been a bitter story of loot and rape. "How far the Russians will succeed in pushing the iron curtain further west is a mute question, but I am convinced they have reached their furthest advance", Dr. Gezork declared. "Western Europe, in the long run, however, will not be able to resist the pressure of Communism if it has no positive program of its own to challenge Russia." He summarized the answer under four headings: Economic Recovery under the European Recovery Plan, Development of a program of economic cooperation where the Europeans will learn to exchange goods with each other, a closer Political Union, and a Spiritual Revival, a renaissance of traditional European beliefs and convictions of the value and dignity of the individual.

"The greatest contribution that America can make," Dr. Gezork concluded, "is to continue the European Recovery Plan, set an example economically of a free people, to keep alive and strong our traditions and beliefs in the freedom and dignity of every individual and to maintain the basic convictions and practices of the free enterprise system in a world that has come closer to totalitarian forms and systems."

A Shopping I Would Go!

By PATRICIA PATENAUE

With a hint of spring in the air on these January days I'm beginning to wonder what happened to old man Winter. All the mittens and boots have not been bought in vain, however, because snow, sleet and all the trimmings are just around the corner. This week I have hunted down a recipe that I think will delight the bridge club or knitting society for lunch. It's easy to make and mighty good. I call it "Baked Cheese and Egg Dish," but any more original name can be used.

Place 4 slices of bread in a greased pan, cover with a slice of American cheese, add another layer of bread, and then cheese again. Arrange strips of bacon on top. Now beat 4 cups of milk, 4 eggs, and a dash of salt and pepper in a bowl. Pour this mixture over bread, cheese and bacon. Cook in a slow oven for one hour. This will serve between 4 and 6. That's all you do, and, believe me, it makes a delicious luncheon. And while this tasty dish is in the oven let's go shopping in a big arm chair.

ent loss of the hand at the wrist is compensated the same as loss of the arm at the shoulder.

The minority of two has asked increased benefits in practically every class, and has proposed a state fund as the sole insurer for all Massachusetts insured. This agency would be set up by the state and would take over all Workmen's Compensation insurance in place of the seventy Insurance Companies which now carry such insurance here. The minority contends that this would be more efficient and would allow larger benefits to be paid.

The majority estimates that the benefits demanded by the insurers would more than double the cost of Workmen's Compensation insurance for the thirty-six million dollars at present to about ninety millions if the minority changes are adopted, and that this increase will occur whether the insurance is done through a state fund or by private enterprise.

The majority oppose a state fund as socialistic, and no more efficient. They point out that it will deprive the state of one million dollars in tax revenue and add two million for the salaries of fund employees, and will dislocate hundreds of persons now working for private insurers.

These recommendations now go to the legislature for action.

accidents, particularly to bicycle riders and that a study was now being made to determine the advisability of eliminating angle parking and substituting parallel parking. He also brought out the fact that a study was being made for the installation of parking meters in certain business areas of the city and that a report on the matter would probably be forthcoming shortly.

Alderman Arnold C. Barker explained the study which was now being made by the board of aldermen relative to offstreet parking and of the many legal obstacles which would have to be settled before any comprehensive report could be issued. He assured the meeting that it was the desire of the city to create offstreet parking areas just as quickly as possible in order that traffic congestion in certain sections might be eliminated.

The meeting was the first husband and wife dinner which the association has sponsored and a representative gathering was present.

He told how the deposits of the bank have increased from $19,868,940, five years ago to $30,992,695, an increase of 56%. Newton Highlands

The Wall Street Journal, in speaking of the multi-million dollar advertising specialty business, has singled out the New England Advertising Company of Newton Highlands along with six nationally famous organizations as one of the leaders in the field. Of the company, it has this to say: "New England Advertising, Inc., of Newton Highlands has helped to smooth out production peaks and valleys in the seasonal calendar by adding a lot of small, inexpensive items. These include cocktail stirrers, plastic aprons, coasters, key tags, poker chips and house numbers, popular with the kids." Arnold & Co., Inc., is the advertising agency.

Rev. E. C. Herrick Named Chaplain to Elderly People

Rev. Everett C. Herrick of 5 Ripley Terrace, Newton Centre and President Emeritus of Andover-Newton Theological Seminary will serve as Chaplain to elderly people in the Rest Homes and Homes for the Aged in Newton. It has been announced by the Newton Council of Churches which is sponsoring the chaplaincy.

Dr. Herrick will visit some 12 licensed homes in the city to survey the needs of the Protestant clients and to make assignment to nearby churches where ever possible. The appointment is one of the best of its kind in the country.

The Rev. Richard P. McClintock, Executive Secretary of the Newton Council of Churches, commented concerning the appointment, "The choice of Dr. Herrick for this post is a very happy one. He is so loveable and also understanding especially for this particular field. He knows the problems and difficulties facing the aged because he himself is getting on in years and is in the midst of these same difficulties even though his vigor and alertness deceive the casual observer on this point. I am sure the Newton Council of Churches is making a real distinct contribution to the enrichment of the life of the Community through the work of Dr. Herrick."

EDITORIALS

We Reiterate Our Position

In the issue of January 6, The Graphic advocated parallel parking instead of angle parking in certain business sections of the city, and stressed particularly Centre street, Newton Corner.

The Graphic still advocates parallel parking and the installation of parking meters in business areas. Despite contrary comment in another Newton paper, The Graphic backs down not one iota in its stand and future procedure will prove it to be right.

Of course we realize the paper to which we refer feels it has a power to offset constructive matters. It is easy to criticize but it takes a few brains and possession of foresight to have the courage of one's convictions.

The writer of this editorial to which we refer stated "now some persons whose knowledge of traffic conditions at Newton Corner is not too extensive proposes that angle parking there be prohibited on both Center and Washington streets."

We defy the writer of that editorial to prove that any mention was made in our editorial about parking on Washington street in or near Newton Corner. Apparently, trying to make sense out of a hopeless case, the reference to Washington street was a brain storm, not borne out by facts. Incidentally, The Graphic does not pay people to write its editorials. That is the function of its editor. It always has been and always will be.

In the meantime, let our readers be assured, that despite petitions being circulated and originating for purely selfish motives, they do not change The Graphic's position in this matter.

Thanks For Reading This

The editor of this newspaper is neither saint nor sage, philosopher or professor. There is no secret about the matter. We get a moderate amount of pay for exposing our views to the gaze and perusal of the enlightened readers of this paper.

We have no campaign to persuade anybody to agree to anything, or with anybody and, least of all, ourselves. Our opinions, written in haste and poor English, may amuse, baffle or befuddle but so long as nobody else will do the job worse for less money, we will probably continue to collect our salary.

We find it rather difficult to get up a rich lather of perspiration over any of the issues that face the city, or the world. There have been issues for many years and there will be issues long after we have passed into the world where nobody writes editorials. Why should we worry over what somebody else thinks about our opinions, much less other matters?

The human race is an ancient institution. It has been bedeviled by wiser writers than this scribe. It has gone its way. So be it. All that we ask is the privilege of going our own way, with those who may choose to come along and without those who prefer going some other way.

We are so modest that we really appreciate the compliment that anybody pays us by reading our trash and we never worry whether they agree with us or not.

About half of the ills that afflict the human body originate in a pampered mind.

It's just as easy to fill your mind with something worth knowing as with rancid humor.

March-of-Dimes Chairman Urges a Greater Effort

The 1949 March-of-Dimes which enters its second week Friday is gaining increasing momentum, Francis J. Murphy, Chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Appeal for Newton announced Wednesday, urging all citizens to redouble their efforts in the final week to make the Drive a record success.

Newton Jan 20 jdm
"So far," Mr. Murphy said, "Newton residents have responded generously to the 1949 March-of-Dimes." Judging from reports from our various Committee Chairmen, every segment of the public here seems keenly aware of the urgent need to make our current appeal a record success."

Mr. Murphy pointed out, however, that in order to achieve our goal every resident must redouble their efforts in case a polio epidemic strikes next in this area.

"At the same time," Mr. Murphy disclosed, "funds given to the March-of-Dimes, will be used not only to help those to whom polio may strike but we still have to meet the continuing cost of care and treatment of boys and girls stricken in prior epidemic years and insure that there is no interruption in research for a cure or preventive of the disease."

"Coin Collectors," he declared, "will continue on display throughout the concluding week of the campaign." He declared to shoppers to donate whatever loose change they can spare daily to the fight against polio and help speed the drive to victory by January 31."

"None of us," Murphy concluded, "can afford to take chances with the possible polio epidemic this coming summer but all of us can afford a dime or a dollar toward assurance that we will be ready should Infantile Paralysis hit our country this year."

SYNOPSIS OF THE LAW

Landlord and Tenant: Eviction of Tenant

By Arthur W. Blakemore, Attorney
(The right to print, or reprint, any or all of these articles, is prohibited without permission of the author)

THE WISE LANDLORD will use the greatest caution in attempting to evict a tenant for any reason; the classic example is the case which went four times to the Supreme Court and cost the landlord over $12,000, besides attorney's fees, for evicting a tenant and her canary birds.

No good lawyer will ever put out a tenant until he gets an execution and then the sheriff and not the landlord is liable for any improper conduct. Any proceedings for eviction must be preceded by the termination of the tenancy, either by the terms of the lease or by proper notice as provided by law.

The tenant has no right to refuse to pay rent simply because the landlord does not keep his agreement to repair—although if the landlord sues for his rent the tenant may offset this by an action on the covenant to repair, if there is one.

The hardships of the housing shortage have impelled the Legislature to pass laws intended to protect tenants and the Act of 1948 provides that in eviction cases stays of judgment and execution may be extended for a period of twelve months. Misrepresentation as to intended use of premises by the landlord is punishable as contempt of court.

Eviction of a tenant today is apt to take three to six months according to the circumstances of each case and the district court judges are deciding these cases as best they can on equitable principles and a balancing of the needs of the landlord and the tenant.

Many cases are subject to the control of the Rent Control office, which should be consulted before eviction is begun. The quickest evictions are those based on non-payment of rent. Rents cannot be increased now without the consent of the Rent Control office. Eviction was ordered by a recent decision of our Supreme Court on the ground that the apartment the landlord occupied was too small for his growing family, and he needed the apartment used by the tenant.

Trail Tales

by JOE PATENAUE

"Go West, young man, go west!" And with snow conditions what they are in the East, that is good advice. Or perhaps you'd like to try an old Indian snow ritual. Cross your fingers and toes, bend low at the waist, mutter something under your breath three times, and then do three quick knee bends. Repeat this 20 times a day until snow comes. This ritual isn't Indian, and it won't bring snow, and it isn't old, but you'll be in good condition for skiing, especially if it doesn't snow until next January.

Just learned something new about the history of skiing. The California Chamber of Commerce claims that organized ski racing started in California 20 years before the first races in Scandinavian countries. If this is true, it will shock several well-known ski historians out of their boots. Time will tell, but meanwhile some serious research seems to be in order. This certainly would be a feather in the west's cap.

News from the north indicates that many huge projects are either a-building or due to start in the near future. When I consider the extent and cost of these developments it scares me a little. I hate to throw a wet blanket on what should make every skier happy, but it will do the sport no good if owners and operators are biting off more than they can chew. I am reminded of the Florida bust of the 20's... nuff said.

Here's what's new in accessories. Skeeshu-Paks are denim bags that zip over boots for protection against rough handling. A strap connecting the two permits easy carrying. Atlas Ankle lets, made of sponge rubber, protect tender skin from chafing and fill out insteps and ankles for more boot security. Safety bindings eliminate toe straps and insure quick release in case of a fall. Ankle straps keep the boards from sliding away, however. The Towpac Trailer is a one-wheeler made of aluminum tubing and canvas. It carries 400 pounds of loot, and folds into the trunk quickly. Adjustable poles are now easy to find, and are worth the investment. They can be stretched for uphill and shortened for racing. You may have already seen this one, but it's worth talking about even if you have. That is the new plastic bottom for skis that eliminates lacquering and waxing. First reports indicate that they can really take it too. At this rate, skiing will soon be a lazy man's sport.

Sites for national competitions have been announced for next year. New England gets but one—The Combined Jumping and Cross Country Championship to be held at Berlin, N. H.

Safety Department—Accident statistics show that more accidents happen after 3 p.m. in the morning or early afternoon. The moral is exercise before the snow flies and quit as soon as you start feeling tired.

SKI JUMPS: Here's another reminder that the Boston and Maine railroad's new television winter sports show is on every Thursday at 8 p.m. . . . If you're looking for some top-rate inns and lodges to stay at take a look at the ads around the column, you couldn't ask for nicer places to make those skiing weekends and vacations fun. . . . Local merchants are bawling the lack of snow, for two reasons, to sell and to ski. Most of Newton's ski merchants are skiers, too. They'll give you a good steer on the right slope. . . . You might be interested to know that Henry Moore, who writes the ski column for The Herald, is a Newtonite. . . . And that's that in the ski world for this week.

The ferret, which is still trained to catch rats, is derived from Gaelic and ancient Celtic, meaning cunning one or crafty one.

Rummage Sale to Be Held January 22

The Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs. Virgil G. Casten, president, will sponsor a Rummage Sale to be held Saturday, January 22, at the clubhouse.

A project of the Ways and Means Committee, Mrs. John Metz, chairman, Mrs. Edward L. Davis, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Carl B. Bohlin, treasurer, this activity is loyally supported by all club members and capably managed by the various chairmen and committee members.

Several husbands of club members have also volunteered their services. The doors will open promptly at 9:30 and remain open until 3:30 p.m., so proceed with speed to buy what you need. People have given generously and there will be bargains galore.

organizations and the Constitution adopted in the Fall of 1945. The first permanent officers were elected at the January meeting in 1946 and consisted of Lucius E. Wading through such as the above is quite a lot of work, so let us depart from political philosophy to a bit of local reporting. There is a movement currently afoot to honor our World War II heroes by remodeling the War Memorial so that their struggles may be remembered by posterity. Let us hope that nothing will be done to mar the beauty of that glorious building. Every resident, old or young, is not fulfilling his obligations as a Newtonian if he has not visited that shrine. Warning: However, do not be misled by the formation of honey wagons (garbage trucks to you) which are to be seen daily (Sundays excluded) cluttering the approaches to City Hall and the War Memorial and lending a touch which is anything but decorative. Oh, well, take comfort in the old adage that competition begets progress.

Before we take leave, James Murphy, the popular and valuable Alderman from Ward 1 assures us that he has no intention of stepping down and turning over the seat which he has ably and amply filled to anyone whatsoever.

It was quite refreshing to see a fine turnout as was present in the Aldermanic Chambers and overflowing into the balcony last Monday night. There really was quite a battle over the North Street Dump and it's been a long time since such verbal fur has flown in the sacred chambers. Both sides were represented by competent counsel and not a stone was left unturned all to from the Warren Junior High the delight of some 50 students School who are being taught social studies by Jack Newton. At times it seemed as though the advisability of rezoning the North Street Dump was a matter secondary to the triumph of getting in the last word.

It's rather difficult to avoid being called unduly critical when clamoring for quick reform. Nevertheless, as the November wounds are healing, the Republicans in Newton are drifting away quite rapidly from the avowals made at the wake, that they were going to start right now to reorganize the party. We, who vote Republican, were promised that the grand old party was going to get the "new look." It must be, when that promise, was made, the promises were referring to the fact that since Governor Dewey's triumph, and since Middlesex County's Republican grip has been shattered, the faces of a few of our party backs have been six inches longer.

There is quite a distinction between Republicans and we who vote Republican. Republicans are those people who form very close ranks and, whether standing still or sliding down hill, refuse to recognize the fact that on the outside looking in there might be somebody who could strengthen the party. In the next election in which the ward committees are chosen, you are going to see quite a few new names and snobishness won't be considered as stylish as it was in 1948 when one enterprising character decided to see for himself what went on in the inner chamber. The man referred to became elected to a ward committee, received notice from the City Clerk of his election, and then was never notified of a meeting. Either our Republican leaders were so lax that they never called a meeting of the ward committees, which make up the city committee, or else they are guilty of autocracy to such an extent that they should be immediately replaced.

The Party Line

The wires hummed a bit last week at the statement made here as to who was the Republican leader in the City of Newton. To those who disagree with the opinion set forth, may it be explained thus. The only Newtonian holding state office who was voted for by the entire city is Senator Lee. Combined with that fact, his nomination was the result of close balloting within the Republican Party and no one person within the Party can claim that the Senator was sponsored by any particular small clique or by any individual, nor can it be said that he is in any way responsible to any particular person for his election. Therefore, he, unlike some of his conferees on Beacon Hill, does not bear the label of push button politician.

It's rather difficult to avoid being called unduly critical when clamoring for quick reform. Nevertheless, as the November wounds are healing, the Republicans in Newton are drifting away quite rapidly from the avowals made at the wake, that they were going to start right now to reorganize the party. We, who vote Republican, were promised that the grand old party was going to get the "new look." A Shopping I Would Go!

By PATRICIA PATENAUE

January is slipping by, minus snow drifts and icicles.

I kinda miss the old New England winter. This week, while roaming through the shops, I decided to start on a scatter pin collection. You can get some very unusual and lovely ones in your favorite jewelers and antique shops. It is forever amazing to me how a collection of odd pins, scattered in all directions, can look so chic. But 'tis the latest word in fashion fun, and will perk up your wardrobe in fine style. While you're wondering what's what in your jewelry box let's take time out and do a little shopping today. Anyhow, it doesn't cost anything to look!

Joint Meeting is Largely Attended

One of the largest gatherings of the season was on hand Tuesday afternoon for the joint meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs at the Congregational Church of Newton Highlands.

Dessert was served at one o'clock. Presiding over the table were Mrs. Malcolm Green and Mrs. Theron Walker. At 2 p.m., Mrs. Donald W. Whitney, president of the Newton Highlands Club, conducted a short business meeting, after which she welcomed to the platform Miss Estelle Marsh, President of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and the Mid-Winter meeting of the Federation followed.

Miss Marsh thanked the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands who were acting as hostess club for the day, and asked cooperation for the Federation project, the Sale for the Blind. This is an annual affair, conducted by volunteer workers entirely so that the proceeds from the sale of articles made by the blind are received in full by them. This year the sale will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 26 and 27 at 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Arthur W. Cornell, Southern Regional Vice President M.S.F.W.C. was the guest of the day. She was introduced by Miss Marsh and spoke at length of the Southern Regional Conference which is to be held on March 28th at the Milford Congregational Church, the hostess club being the Quilshiping Woman's Club. Mrs. Cornell also issued a cordial invitation to all to attend the Mid-Winter Meeting and Forum of the State Federation on February 14 and 15 at the Hotel Statler, Boston, at which time speakers from the Boston Herald, The Christian Science Monitor and the Boston Globe will address the Forum on timely subjects.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Albert Walker presented Mrs. Herbert Anderson, pianist and member of the Newton Highlands Club, who played three selections, the last of which, an arrangement of the quartet from "Rigoletto" was most beautifully performed.

Marian Rudkins, reviewer of books, held her audience completely with her very realistic portrayal of several scenes from current best sellers. Hers is a unique talent for bringing to life the characters of a book in a way that makes one wish to know them better.

Birthday Party at Totem Pole to Aid Campaign

WCRB, the Newton-Waltham station, will celebrate its first anniversary of service to listeners in this area with a mammoth Birthday Party at Totem Pole Wednesday, February 2.

All proceeds from the affair will go to the Newton and Waltham March of Dimes campaign. As his contribution, Mr. Roy Gill is making Totem Pole and its large staff available without cost.

WCRB has engaged Baron Hugo's Orchestra, including Ray Dorey, to play for dancing from 8:30 to midnight. There will be $1000 worth of door prizes distributed throughout the evening to lucky holders of tickets. Bill Sherman, popular WCRB personality, will act as master of ceremonies in presenting the entertainment and distinguished guests.

Tickets at $1.75 per couple will be available at a number of convenient stores throughout the Newtons, which will display a poster indicating they have tickets.

Mr. Francis J. Murphy, chairman of the Newton March of Dimes Committee, states "The public spiritedness of WCRB in arranging this Birthday Party for the March of Dimes campaign and the generosity of the Totem Pole management in making its place available without cost should be met with an enthusiastic response from Newton people to support the affair. I hope that everybody in Newton will be at the Totem Pole Wednesday, February 2, for an evening of fun and dancing that will help make our Newton March of Dimes campaign a bigger success than ever before."

Trade School Opens Basketball Season

The Newton Trade School basketball team opened its 1949 season in accordance with the regulations of the Massachusetts Vocational League and sponsored by James Forbes, Director of the Newton Trade School.

Athletic activities are nothing new in the Newton Trade School as they were in full swing some years ago, being discontinued previous to the war. From the enthusiasm shown by the crowd attending the opening game, Newton Trade School is off to a good start. The team has been coached as indicated by the score of the initial game. Ted Dada, former all-America basketball player from Syracuse as coach.

John Murray, faculty manager and George Batt, his assistant, have been untiring workers, in conjunction with Frank Simmons Athletic Director of the City of Newton, in the organization of the newly formed basketball team.

Take Part in Joint Concert at College

Several seniors at Mount Holyoke College from Newton are members of the senior choir which presented its first joint concert with the college orchestra on Saturday evening, January 15. Miss Nancy Newcomb of Newtonville, Miss Cynthia Breed of Newton Centre, and Miss Janet Shillady of Waban are members of the senior choir which was directed by Miss Ruth Douglass, associate professor of music.

Miss Anne Crosby of West Newton, a freshman at Mount Holyoke, is a member of the orchestra.

These paintings, views of New England's mountains and seashore are unique in one respect, they have the vigor and strength which one does not usually associate with a woman's work. Mrs. Weed has been successful in conveying through broad brush strokes and a subjective viewpoint, the wholesome strength of the New England scene. By an elimination of unnecessary detail and an eye for the broad atmospheric interpretation, she has produced a series of strong pictures.

For a number of years there has been a distinctive "Boston School" of landscape painting, and one of its leading lights has been Marion P. Sloane. It is not difficult to realize that Mrs. Weed is a pupil of Mrs. Sloane's. The freshness of her skies, the tumbled mass of silhouetted mountains, the brisk colors of autumn foliage, all go to identify her with this "Boston School".

In "Windy Day, New Hampshire" (No. 17 in the exhibition, we find a bravura of sunlight and shadow, masses of white clouds are piling up in a blue sky. Behind the old red barn there is the deep shadow of distant woods, but the sun shines brilliantly on a field of newly cut hay in the foreground. A road winds from shadow into sunlight and then disappears behind a clump of cedars. It is hard to imagine that so much action, so much atmosphere can be condensed into one small canvas. It is a lovely picture—one which a person would never tire of.

In a smaller canvass "Before the shower, Duxbury", Mrs. Weed had captured a dramatic moment, gulls scurrying before the grey storm clouds, and the intense white light which precedes the storm, shining on the beach. The waves pile up on the shore, and one feels like seeking shelter in the little fishing shack on the point of land which stretches into the ocean.

Mrs. Weed studied at the Massachusetts School of Art, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and also with Marion P. Sloane. She is a member of the Wellesley Society of Artists, the North Shore Art Association, the Rockport Art Association, the Copley Society of Boston, and the New Hampshire Art Association.

The exhibition will continue through January 22nd and is open to the public free of charge.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

Last year Division ID had the privilege of writing to some French school children. With these letters were sent pencils, pencil sharpeners, shoes, and other such items. It was thought that articles of this sort would be most useful. The letters were written with the hope that a friendship between the students of Bigelow and those of France might develop. We were rewarded this year by the arrival of letters from France. Since these were all written in French, the Bigelow French class and Mr. Hanrahan, our French instructor, translated them. The letters, all neatly written on squared paper, mentioned their joy at hearing from us and their gratefulness for the gifts we sent. The clothing, we were told, was distributed to the most needy, and the school supplies, of which the pencil sharpeners interested them most, were given to the school children. We were very glad of this opportunity to exchange letters with children of different lands. It not only was a source of enjoyment but served as a reminder to us that we should be appreciative of the blessings of being American citizens.

Speed Laws And Speed Traps

An effort is underway in some regions of the United States to develop uniform traffic laws, with especial emphasis upon a general maximum speed limit.

The idea is not necessarily involved in a campaign to reduce highway deaths because the speed of motor vehicles must be considered in relation to highway conditions and circumstances. Obviously, the speed that is permitted on open highways becomes dangerous in closely built communities where there is considerable pedestrian movement.

One of the unfortunate situations which students of automobile traffic would like to eliminate involves the habit of some governmental units, which fix the compensation of officers on the basis of the number of arrests, with convictions, that they make in connection with laws and ordinances regulating speed. In almost every state there exist "speed traps," where enforcement officers, whose pay depends upon the money they collect, exhibit a zeal in arrests that can be explained only by their participation in the fines collected.

Such a plan of compensation violates almost every principle of fairness insofar as unsuspecting motorists are involved. The ease with which greedy officials can mulct out-of-state motorists invites abuses which are not entirely absent from interstate travel. In fact, the out-of-state motorist is practically at the mercy of any officer who makes a charge against him. Most of them, regardless of the facts in the case, find it more convenient to pay the racketeering officers than to lose two or three days in fighting the case in a court where the alleged offender is utterly unknown.

Young Wilkie's Advice

Recalling that the Republican Party, to which he belongs, has not elected a President since he was "in knee pants," Philip H. Wilkie, son of the late Wendell Wilkie, is advising GOP leaders to appeal to the imagination of the American people.

Mr. Wilkie thinks that the Republicans will have a chance to dramatize themselves while the Democrats, soon to be in majority, get most of the headlines. He insists that the Party must "become fruitful of ideas, policies and principles," or it will die.

One statement by the youthful politician seems to contain sound advice. He suggests that you can't "win an election until the public knows where you stand." He might have something in that statement because it is obvious that voters want to know what a candidate stands for before depending upon him.

A Great Personality

Cities like people, have outstanding characteristics. We think that Newton has an individuality all of its own.

It is a large city, overshadowed to be sure, by being so close to still a larger one. However, if it were a metropolis of one of the less densely populated states it would be of sufficient importance to be a landmark on the map.

It is primarily a city of homes and they are fine and happy ones, too. It is no happenstance that so many nice people are congregated within its boundaries. They all come willingly and for sufficient reason that they thought it one of the very best places in which they can live. Few cities of its size can boast of as many places in which the folks can have so much recreation. Not many places of its size have as many golf courses or skating or swimming or canoeing places. Few places boast of such handsome scenery and fine trees. Few cities have as many splendid houses on a per capita basis.

Newton is fortunate in being composed of a number of villages, which are actually individual communities. Each of these communities have their own loyal spirit and are quite self contained socially as they each have their own churches, women's clubs and shopping centers. Yet the residents of these villages have an overall awareness of being 100 percent Newtonites even though they pledge their allegiance to their own postal identity.

Newton is also fortunate in having important industries whose products are of great value. Many commuters do not realize how many splendid products of varying nature are made right in the home city.

Best of all the citizens are friendly, capable, energetic and thrifty. It is not a Times Square or an Empire State Building that contributes to its greatness. It is the outstanding goodness and fineness of the people that make a city GREAT!

Notes and Comments

The poll takers are not discouraged; they will forecast the Congressional elections of 1950.

Our Own Advice: Nobody is interested in the good excuse that you have for not being a success.

Let's make 1949 a banner year in highway safety; why hurry to kill a person who might be you.

The man who doesn't want to hear an intelligent discussion of current issues knows his mental condition.

With prices high, and threatening to go higher, it is hard to make people believe that they will hit the bottom.

It would be a man's world if the good ladies kept house with the same enthusiasm that they play bridge.

Whenever you think you are getting to be something super read about the stars that dot the mysterious universe.

The main trouble with moralists is that they always want to reform somebody according to their ideals.

There are people who believe that if you have enough money you are entitled to do anything you want to do.

The reason why some people acquire so much money is that the man who knows how to make money attends to his own business.

PTA Council Learns School Enrollment To Increase by 2400

The importance of broadening the base of membership in Parent-Teacher Associations so that the whole community has a vested interest in schools was stressed at a recent meeting of the executive board meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. This suggestion was brought forth in a discussion of Mrs. Sylvester McGinn's report on the extensive membership.

Mayor States First Problem is Housing

Mayor Theodore Lockwood in an address before the Women's Republican Club in Boston recently, stated: "The nation's first problem is housing. Adequate local planning is essential and many cities require further statutory power of eminent domain to eliminate blighted areas. Subsidies may be necessary to insure certain improvements. Temporary housing has brought upon many cities a plight not known in Newton, and Federal and State aid is being widely sought in alleviation.

Creating respect and recognition for municipal officials emphasized the need of such officials taking the lead in such

Wm. M. Cahill Named Local Bank Chrmn.

William M. Cahill, Vice-President and Treasurer of the Newtonville Branch of the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Company, has been appointed chairman of the Newton U. S. Savings Bonds Committee, according to an announcement made by the Massachusetts Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department. Mr. Cahill has long been prominently identified with all worthwhile civic activities, and has continued uninterruptedly his efforts to encourage the sale of Savings Bonds in Newton and the surrounding localities.

The Savings Bonds sales program is designed to insure widespread distribution of the national debt, and at the same time provide funds which the Treasury can use in retiring bank-held debt.

Mr. Cahill said today that there is no better way for individuals to protect their future security, while at the same time helping in the demonstration of American unity in fighting opposing philosophies.

Taxpayers Ass'n Has Nearly 1000 Members

The addition of 48 new members in the past week puts the paid up membership of the Newton Taxpayers' Association well over the 900 mark and on its way to break 1000, reported Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the Executive Secretary, today.

Homeowners in the middle class brackets are recognizing the increasing burden that is being placed upon them, and while they are glad to do their fair share, they realize that their survival as relatively independent people depends upon intelligent analysis of government, active and not merely verbal resistance, plus constructive counter-proposals which properly will channel the greedy growth of "Statocracy."

Mid-Winter Dinner Of Council Held

Action on a citywide Religious Census was referred to the Official Boards of the member Churches at the mid-winter meeting of the Newton Council of Churches attended by 130 delegates and ministers last night at the Newton Centre Methodist Church. Jess D. Traylor, President, introduced the Rev. Glenn Trimble, Associate Director of the Department of Research and Strategy of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, who gave a general picture of the methods, varieties, values, and difficulties involved in conducting large scale Religious surveys.

The speaker pointed out that the approximate cost of a Newton Census would be in the neighborhood of $2000 which would provide professional direction of at least 1200 volunteer census takers. He felt that the cost of all professional survey would be out of the question except in a small sample section such as Oak Hill. The speaker mentioned that some of the val-

Highland Branch Commuters Urged To Protest Service Curtailment At Hearing

The Department of Public Utilities will hold a public hearing Monday, February 7, in Room 166, State House, at 10 a.m., on the matter of the proposed discontinuance of the Boston and Alband R.R. of station agents at Longwood, Brookline Hills, Reservoir, Chestnut Hill and Elliot stations on the Highland Branch line and at Allston station on the main line.

REP. WHITMORE

Representative Howard Whitmore, Jr. is circulating over two thousand homes of probable commuters using either Elliot or Chestnut Hill stations. People are urged to attend the hearing and protest what Representative Whitmore feels is an unwarranted curtailment of service. If unable to be present at the hearing, commuters may record their feelings on postcards which will be mailed to them and return them to Representative Whitmore who will record them with the D.P.U. on February 7, 1949.

Fire Hazards On Increase During Winter

Winter, the coldest season of the year, also is the height of the heating season, and householders need to guard against fires originating in overworked furnaces, stoves, fireplaces and chimneys.

The National Fire Protection Association calls attention to the danger of overheating a furnace by "forcing" it during cold weather. About 20 percent of all building fires can be traced to heating plants and chimneys.

Recent NFPA figures show that overheated or defective heating equipment causes approximately 44,500 fires a year; overheated or defective chimneys and flues, 30,000; sparks on flammable roofs, 27,000; hot ashes and coals, 6,400; and combustible materials carelessly placed near heaters, 6,300.

Clean Chimney Annually

Dirty heating plants and chimneys rank dangerously high among fire hazards. Soot should be cleaned out annually and the chimney should be repaired if cracks and loose mortar are found. The furnace needs to be inspected for worn or broken parts. Rusty or damaged smokepipes should be replaced.

Dirty or defective chimneys and flues cause sparks to fly out onto the roof of a building. Therefore, the NFPA strongly advises the use of fire resistant asphalt shingles or some other material which will not be kindled into flame by chimney sparks or airborne fire brands.

An 18-inch clearance usually is required all around the heating plant, the NFPA says. If combustible material cannot be moved far enough to give adequate clearance, it should be insulated and there should be an air space of one inch between the insulation and the material.

Furnace smokepipes often reach temperatures of 600 to 1,000 degrees. Consequently, their required distance from beams or wood walls is 24 to 36 inches. Concealed smokepipes are dangerous.

Flue Area Specified

A chimney should be built of brick, solid block masonry or reinforced concrete, with walls at least 3 1/2 inches thick. It should be lined with refractory fire clay and should be self-supporting. It should project at least three feet above the roof and at least two feet above any ridge within 10 feet.

A flue should have a cross-sectional area of at least 70 square inches if it serves a furnace, 50 square inches if it serves a fireplace and 40 square inches if it serves a coal stove.

Fuel storage is often an afterthought in home construction, according to the NFPA. Wooden coal bins are located too close to heating equipment and fuel oil lines are exposed so that they are subject to breakage. Competency in design, installation and operation of a heating plant is of major importance in building a fire-safe home, the NFPA says.

Warren Junior High School

Warren Junior High School is fortunate to have among its members, pupils who come from many states in the U. S. as well as pupils from foreign countries. It is with much regret that Warren often has to say "goodbye" to these boys and girls when their stay in Newton is over. Sailing last week on the Queen Mary on the first lap of their journey back to India, where their parents are missionaries, and school at the Highgate School, Kodakkanal, South India, for the next five years, were Delmar and Joan Long, and Dorothea and Floyd Swart.

Room 203 was sorry to lose Clarissa Hill who came from Greece where her parents, too, were missionaries. This was Clarissa's first experience in a public school and we wish her continued success in her new school at Southborough.

Leaving Room 11 was Barbara Thelin whose parents have moved to California. Also leaving Warren, though not traveling so far away, were Richard and Robert Reske who have moved to Nonantum and will attend the Day Junior High School. Several new pupils have entered Warren recently, among them Dorothy Maloney who comes from Pasadena, California; Lorna Regolsky from the Runkle School in Brookline; and Jacqueline Bean from the Lincoln School in Framingham.

Hospital Functions 24 Hours a Day Through the Year

When a patient wants to know the condition of his health, he sees his doctor.

But when your Newton-Wellesley Hospital checks up on how it's functioning, as it does continuously, the patient himself is consulted.

Referring to the summarized written comments of over 5,000 ex-patients, John M. Powell, the hospital president, notes that over 90 percent of all remarks have had high praise for the hospital and its nursing service.

"Today fewer criticisms than ever before are being received, but there still are occasional adverse comments," Mr. Powell said. "Certain annoyances might be brushed off lightly by the healthy person," he continued, "but such matters as the delay of a busy nurse in answering a summons, the echo of laughter of visitors in the corridors, or a noisy utility cart can be sources of extreme irritation to sick people."

Comments—favorable or adverse—of ex-patients at our hospital can go far to bring the hospital and the public it serves to a closer understanding, in Mr. Powell's opinion. "While favorable remarks act as an effective morale booster to a staff operating under the handicap of limited space, the criticisms help our busy administrator, Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, keep a careful check on his continuous efforts to improve the efficiency of service."

"Every patient on returning home from the hospital receives a written request to comment on his hospital stay," Mr. Powell explains. "No specific questions are put, but rather the patient is simply asked for remarks. Every single complaint, no matter how minor, is carefully investigated by the administration and nursing service and the patient who registers criticism is given the courtesy of a full, written reply by the director."

By asking each patient to tell us his reaction to the care he has received in our hospital, the patient has a chance to "speak his mind" to those who may be able to do something about it, rather than "blow off steam" to a neighbor over the back fence. Negative criticism can have only a harmful reaction to a hospital striving to serve this community as best it can under trying conditions."

Hotels, airlines and industry poll their public to determine reaction to their services, according to the hospital's president, our Newton-Wellesley Hospital is among the first to continuously and systematically request written comments from all discharged patients.

How League Stands

Editor, The Graphic:

Where does the Massachusetts League of Women Voters stand on the Van Waters-Framingham Reformatory for Women case? The League of Women Voters of Massachusetts is committed through its current agenda for 1948-1950 to continue its long-sustained study of "improved treatment of women offenders."

Visits to the Framingham Reformatory for Women by local league members, a Workshop this winter where the history and development of penal laws was studied under Professor Neal DeNood of Smith College, and the procedures of re-education of students at Framingham under Dr. Van Waters, the release to the press on Dec. 8 stating our belief in the principles and aims of program in force at the Framingham Reformatory for Women and finally, the large attendance of league members at the hearings all testify to the league's concern lest the improved treatment of women offenders be seriously jeopardized at this time.

So, to the above question repeatedly asked by the general public, again the league expresses its full confidence in the aims and principles inherent in Dr. Van Waters' program. It stands firmly against any return to the archaic practice of punishment alone as a corrective for unfortunate women offenders. It profoundly believes in the practice of methods which re-educate and rehabilitate the women at Framingham (many of them under 21 years of age) to the end that they can re-enter society as disciplined and matured citizens.

PTA—

ship drive put on by the Newton Centre School Association.

Dwight Colburn reported to the board concerning the meeting of the Community Council devoted to Recreation in Newton. Mr. Colburn pointed out that the Recreation department is doing the best it can with the limited funds at its disposal. There is great need not only for more funds, but for more personnel, equipment, and better playgrounds. Also it is asked that individual PTA requests concerning playgrounds or equipment should go through the PTA Council. Mr. Colburn's report led to a discussion of the wasteful overlapping of city departments in the administration of school equipment. It was voted by the board that President Kincha appoint a committee to study the situation and report back to the executive board.

Marriage

By Arthur W. Blakemore, Attorney

(The right to print, or reprint, any or all of these articles, is prohibited without permission of the author)

The raising of families is one of the most important functions of civilized life, and the problem has received different answers in different ages. Every possible relationship between the sexes—even that of mother and son and father and daughter—has been at some time considered decent and proper. In Egypt, at the time of Christ, it was proper for brothers and sisters to intermarry.

The poor results of inbreeding in the human race, as much as religion, have brought a change and today no relations nearer than first cousins may intermarry in this state.

A marriage of a man under 21 or a girl under 18 without the consent of the parent or guardian is forbidden, except under certain circumstances. If parties forbidden to marry in this state go out of the state and there marry, such marriage is void in this state.

Marriage is more than a solemn contract; it is a status in which the state has a vital interest, and as such has always been surrounded by publicity and a ceremony. In England publication of the banns was required to make a marriage legal, but in this state it is enough to file with the town clerk proper notice of the intention to marry five days previously and even this five days' requirement may be waived on application to a magistrate. The parties must also obtain under a recent statute a medical certificate of freedom from syphilis.

A so-called common law marriage, where the parties, without ceremony and by agreement, openly co-habit as man and wife, has been recognized in some jurisdictions but is not valid in this state.

The ceremony may be conducted by a duly ordained minister or by certain civil officials who should keep a record of the marriage and make return of the same.

If there are complications, as if one of the parties has been divorced or lives out of the state, legal advice should be taken before marriage to save worry later.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Because braising means long, slow cooking, the flavor of the seasoning has plenty of time to mingle with that of the meat.

Certain of the various kinds of seasoning are best with certain meats. For example, for beef, choose summer savory, thyme, parsley, celery leaves or marjoram. For veal and lamb, marjoram and summer savory are especially good. For pork, try basil summer savory and sage.

A good rule is to underseason rather than salt adding too many herbs.

Braised Breast of Lamb

2 lbs. lamb breast cut into serving pieces
Salt and pepper
Drippings or salad oil
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups water

A pinch of summer savory
1/2 clove garlic, finely minced
Peeled potatoes, cut in halves
Carrots cut in halves

Cut the lamb breast into serving pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Brown well on all sides in drippings. Use your Dutch oven or roaster for this.

Lift out meat. Drain off excess fat, leave about 2 tablespoons. Sprinkle flour into fat. Stir constantly, let cook brown, but don't let it burn. Add 2 cups water, a pinch of summer savory and the minced garlic. This can simmer covered over low heat on top of stove or it can be baked in an oven 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Add potatoes and carrots which have been salted. Cook about 45 to 60 minutes.

Mexican Roast

4 lbs. chuck meat, any cut
2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons beef fat or bacon
Drippings

11 medium onion, sliced
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup chopped celery
3 cups stewed tomatoes or canned

1 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoon pepper
Pound pepper into surface of meat using wooden mallet or the edge of a heavy plate.

Brown meat and onion in fat in heavy kettle or Dutch oven. Combine remaining ingredients, add to meat.

Cover and cook over low heat or bake in an oven 300 degrees for 2 1/2 hours or until tender.

Braised Short Ribs

1 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium sized onion chopped
1 1/2 tablespoon vinegar
1 1/2 tablespoon brown sugar
3/4 cup catchup
3/4 cup water

1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 teaspoon mustard
3 1/2 to 4 lbs short ribs

Brown onion in butter. Add the short ribs and simmer 10 minutes. Meanwhile brown short ribs on all sides in heavy skillet or Dutch oven. Add additional teaspoon salt and the sauce.

Cover and bake in an oven 300 degrees for 2 1/2 hours or until tender. Baste sauce over the ribs 4 times during the cooking period.

Braised Pork Chops

Pork chops
Salt and pepper
Minced onions
Tomato juice and pulp
Sprinkle pork chops with salt and pepper. Put in heavy pan, cover with boiling tomato and pulp. Add minced onion. Cover and cook over slow heat for 60 minutes.

ues of a city-wide census would be to show the relative strength of the member churches of the Council, the church preferences of the "lapsed", the percentages and general religious trends in the entire population by communities.

Mr. Trimble pointed out some difficulties involved such as the need for experts to do the tabulating, the training of volunteers to ask the right questions and to record them legibly, and the need for permanent organization to keep the file of some 20,000 family cards up to date in the years following the census. He cautioned that there was a large margin of error involved in using volunteer canvassers and that the tabulation to be accurate should be made by machine and expert operators.

There followed a lively question and discussion period which ended in a vote to submit to the churches a request that each Official Board take action on the desirability of a census and their own willingness to back power, should their vote be affirmative. Votes of the member churches ought to be reported to the Executive Secretary not later than March 1st.

Previous to the meeting a dinner was served by the Young Woman's Group of the Church under the chairmanship of Mrs. John M. Milne. The business meeting included reports by the various officers and departments. The Executive Secretary, Rev. Richard P. McClintock, reported that the protest sent to the High School relative to the holding of Vespers on Christmas Sunday had received prompt and courteous response from both the Supt. of Schools and the Director of the Music Department to the effect that the conflict would be avoided in the future. Tyler Parkhurst Treasurer, reported a balance of $2413.21.

Dr. Frank Jennings brought the greetings of the Massachusetts Council of Churches. Reports were made by Professor Wesner Fallaw, Religious Education; Rev. Frederick Grootsema, Youth Department; Dean Howard M. LeSourd, International Relations; Publicity, Edmund S. Whitten; United Church Canvass (incomplete), the Secretary; and Dr. Everett C. Herrick, Chaplain of the Aged.

Plan Series of Four Special Study Days

The pastors of the 773 Methodist Churches in New England have been asked to take part in four special days of study between now and June 30, according to an announcement made by Bishop John Wesley Lord, resident in the Boston Area. Twenty-five thousand Methodist pastors throughout the nation are taking part in an intensive study of the reports of last summer's meeting of the First Assembly of The World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, Holland.

Bishop Lord has announced that in order to help parish ministers complete this study, districts in the Area will be asked to hold four separate all-day sessions between now and June 30 to study four sections of the report. The title of the report is "Man's Disorder and God's Design." The first section is entitled "The Universal Church in God's Design," the second is "The Church's Witness to God's Design," the third is "The Church and the Disorder of Society," and the final day will be devoted to a study of "The Church and International Disorder."

Bishop Lord, in recognizing the heavy schedule of study involved has suggested these district sessions. "It appears to me," said the bishop, "that unless we help our men in this study, it will prove a discouraging assignment."

The Party Line

Last week's heaviest piece of local political news was the announcement by our former Chief of Police that he intends to vie for the honor of representing Ward 1 on the Board of Aldermen. To those who take Nick Veducio's ambitions as frivolous, let it be said that he is a very able person with a great deal of ability. The fact that he made his way to the top of our Police Department with little or no formal education will attest to that. Combined with his ability and hard headed coolness, the ex-chief has a natural affability which has won him many friends and which has earned him the respect of those who are not his friends. Now, on the other side of the ledger, there is the present Alderman from Ward 1 who was mentioned here last week, James Murphy has been a life long resident of Ward 1 and is a conscientious and eager public servant. Some time ago, the house he lives in was sold and like many of his constituents, eviction proceedings were commenced against him in Newton Court. After the usual stays had been granted by the court and further appeal would be of no avail, the Murphys, having found temporary shelter in West Newton, moved. Not, however, until after the first of the year.

Section 37 of the revised charter states "the removal of a member of the Board of Aldermen or of the school committee from one ward to another ward in the city shall, at the end of the municipal year but not before, create a vacancy in his office."

Now there will be quite a question as to whether or not Murphy can be declared a bona-fide candidate from Ward 1, where as a fact he is now out of the ward but where he was in the ward at the start of the municipal year and intends to move back at the first opportunity. It would seem that the voters should be allowed the choice and it appears a little rough that a forced eviction of a man and his family would deprive him of his public career. The Alderman from Ward 1 says that it will be a fight to the finish. There will be nothing dull about the race between a popular ex-chief of police and an efficient alderman who was given the greatest number of votes ever given a Newton Democrat, when he ran for representative from the north side of the city last fall. As for the election of Veducio affecting in any way the policies of the Board of Aldermen, such would not be the case if he were elected. The present incumbent is more or less of an outsider himself. Therefore, replacement would not add to the strength of the outsiders, nor would it detract from the unity of the Board of Aldermen.

It is most surprising that by now we have not had the announcement of other political aspirants, because if you recall, by this time two years ago, several people had "bowed to the urgings of their friends" and had announced their candidacy. There has been some rumor that some dissident forces within the city were going to organize a small party and attempt to infiltrate the Aldermanic position and likewise attain representation on the school committee. It will have to be left to the individual's opinion as to just how healthy a thing it would be to have two slates in a city election because it must be borne in mind that the City of Newton has enjoyed a relatively scandal free administrative history.

One contributing factor to lack of municipal graft is the absence of a party system which forces winners to feather the nests of their henchmen as reward for services rendered, regardless of the appointee's ability. A current example is Assistant Correction Commissioner Dwyer who with a background of straight politics, is attempting to purge Dr. Van Waters. He and Commissioner McDowell have certainly made total fools of themselves in the eyes of the public.

At this writing, there is still no news from the State Senate which would indicate how and when the deadlock will be broken. The Democrats are showing their ability to be consistent in stubbornness and woe to the thoughtless Republican who dares take his lead from Democratic performance. The game of repeating an untruth so often that it becomes a fact, is as old as the game of politics itself. I wonder if Senator John Powers really believes half the mean things he has said about the Republicans. One fact is unescapable. The twenty Republican Senators will be made the whipping boys in Paul Dever's 1950 campaign for every miscarriage of public affairs and malfunction of government which will result from the Governor's attempts to drag the red herring across the path of his fantastic campaign promises.

Little Girl Loses Money—Facts Put On Air; Money Returned

Last Saturday little Margaret Mulligan of West Newton went out to do the family shopping, and somewhere along the way lost the $35 she was entrusted with.

Another Newton girl found $25 of the lost money, but a woman standing nearby claimed the two ten and one five dollar bills, took the money, and boarded a bus for Waltham.

The Newton Police Department turned to WCRB for help, asking WCRB to tell the story in a news broadcast and to warn the woman that unless the money was returned, an investigation would be started.

The item was broadcast Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday morning little Margaret Mulligan had the $25 back in her possession.

How To Fight The Common Cold

Nearly everyone catches colds, and almost everyone has a favorite cold remedy. So far, however, neither victims nor doctors have come up with a sure cure. These 10 "common sense" rules have won general acceptance as the best ways now known for dealing with colds:

TO PROTECT YOURSELF—

1. Avoid people with colds.
2. Stay out of drafts.
3. Get plenty of exercise and rest.
4. Eat well-balanced meals.
5. Avoid chills and wet feet by wearing warm clothing and rubbers or overshoes when the weather is cold and wet.

IF A COLD STRIKES—

1. Get into bed and rest.
2. Eat light, nourishing meals.
3. Drink plenty of fluids.
4. Don't blow your nose like a bugle—it forces the infection into your sinuses.
5. Call the doctor if chills, fever or racking cough lasts more than 24 hours—or if you have rust-colored sputum.

One Cold Bog Isolated, But Chances For Universal Vaccine Still Slim

The first real gleam of hope in the stepped-up attack on the common cold came a few months ago when research experts of the United States Public Health Service succeeded in tracking down a germ that causes one type of cold.

Called V14A by its discoverers, the germ has been successfully transmitted from infected persons in the U.S.P.H.S. laboratories to convicts who volunteered for the experiment at Lorton Reformatory near Washington, D. C.

Methods used by the researchers were relatively simple. They washed out the nasal passages of the original cold victims with sterile skimmed milk to collect the matter that contained the cold germ. Streptomycin and penicillin were added to the mixture, which was frozen and taken to the reformatory.

The scientists then sprayed prisoner volunteers with the mixture and put them in hospital-type quarters to see what happened. The real mixture was used on only half the prisoners tested so that colds which might be due to psychological conditions would not interfere with the basic calculations.

In the initial experiments, 57 of the 60 volunteers came down with the same type of colds as the original victims.

Other research in the field of the common cold is also centered principally around the filterable viruses to determine their nature, habits and effect on the human body. While some viruses have been stopped by vaccine, chances that a universal cold vaccine can be developed seem very slim at present.

Until some type of cold cure is discovered, the best protection is to follow these four simple rules: don't get overtired, wear warm clothes and rubbers or overshoes when there is snow and slush outside, stay out of drafts, and avoid people who already have colds.

Combined toll of the next five leading causes of death—cancer, accidents, kidney disease, pneumonia and tuberculosis.

Q. What are the most common types of heart disease?
A. Rheumatic heart disease caused by acute rheumatic fever; hypertensive heart disease, the result of high blood pressure, common among the middle-aged; and coronary arteriosclerosis, hardening of the arteries. Rheumatic fever is the greatest enemy of children and is to blame for 40 per cent of all heart disease at all ages.

Q. What are possible symptoms of heart disease?
A. Pain, not over the heart but generally in the center of the chest; shortness of breath, and palpitation.

KITCHEN MEMO

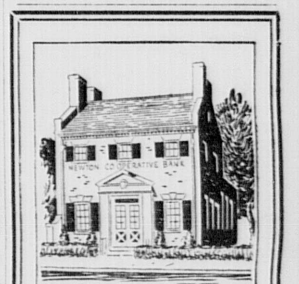

If you don't feel like turning on the oven to bake cookies, try Griddle Cookies cooked over the top burner. Preheat griddle for three minutes with flame full on, then turn down to low simmer for entire cooking period. Best heat test is a drop of water which should dance, rather than steam, on the griddle surface. Put 1 egg, slightly beaten, into 1/2 cup milk. Add 1 cup oats. Sift once 3/4 cup all-purpose flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 tsp. baking soda, 2 tsp. nutmeg, 1 1/4 tsp. salt. Work 1 cup shortening into dry ingredients with pastry blender until mealy. Then pour into this milk, egg and raisin mixture. Mix. Wrap dough in wax paper, chill in refrigerator 1 hour. Roll out 1/4" thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Brown on slightly greased griddle on one side, then on the other. Makes 35 cookies.

Don't worry about boilovers on your top burners. Just wipe them up with a cloth dampened in warm water. Later, when your gas range has cooled, you can do a more thorough cleaning job.

Neither hot water nor gas is wasted when you have an automatic regulator on your gas water heater, because gas is turned on and off automatically only as hot water is needed.

The built-in towel drier and movable racks on some new gas ranges not only save precious space but also hide unsightly dish towels and cloths.

An ordinary vegetable parer is a good tool to use for grating chocolate or cheese and certainly easier to clean than a grater.

RECENT DEATHS

George W. Taylor

Edward B. Wildman

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, Jan. 21st, at 2:30 in the Newtonville Methodist Church for George Whitefield Taylor of 30 Foster street, Newtonville, president and founder of the Taylor Press Inc., of Boston. Burial was private.

Mr. Taylor died on Wednesday, January 19. He was in his 71st year. A native of Moncton, New Brunswick, he came to Boston while a young man and entered the printing business, and while still young founded the Taylor Press. For many years he was president of the Boston Typographical Association, an association of printers. He retired from business last year.

As an active member of the First Methodist Church in Boston he figured prominently in young people's work. In 1908 he was a delegate to the General Conference of Methodist Churches in Baltimore.

He was one of the founders of the Merrimack Street Mission; a trustee of the Deaconess Hospital; president of the board of trustees of the Newtonville Methodist Church, and for many years was lay representative of the same church at the New England Methodist Conference.

He also was president of the Newtonville Improvement Association and a member of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bessie (McGaw) Taylor; a daughter, Mrs. Norman E. Lockwood of Wellesley; a son, George W. Taylor, Jr., of Newtonville; and a sister, Mrs. Daniel Caruthers of Moncton, N. B.

Disease Cases
Rose In Mass.
During 1948

Almost 104,000 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the Mass. Dept. of Public Health during 1948, Dr. Roy Feemster, director of the Division of Communicable Diseases, announced today.

This figure is approximately 25% higher than that of the previous year but only slightly higher than 1946. The 1948 prevalence is much lower than that of 1943 when 138,000 cases of communicable diseases were reported.

"The high prevalence of 1948 is largely due to an excess of more than 30,000 in reported cases of measles, mumps and scarlet fever compared to the previous year," Dr. Feemster explained. "On the other hand, there was a considerable drop in the number of cases of whooping cough reported."

Diphtheria declined from 433 cases in 1947 to 275 in 1948, due to the speeding up of diphtheria immunization programs. The disease continues to be prevalent, however, in Boston and the communities immediately north in spite of these immunization programs. The number of adults affected has been on the increase.

Poliomyelitis dropped to 175 cases during 1948 after four years of increased prevalence.

Dr. Feemster pointed out that cases of trichinosis continued to occur in spite of many warnings that all pork products should be thoroughly cooked. Also, cases of undulant fever continued to be discovered primarily in those who preferred to use raw milk instead of pasteurized. The downward trend in pulmonary tuberculosis has been temporarily arrested, a slight increase in cases being reported during 1948.

Vaccination against smallpox has kept the disease out of the state for almost 17 years. Good sanitation continues to keep typhoid fever at a very low level.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Newton Upper Falls Methodist Church for Edward B. Wildman of 16 Winter street, Newton Upper Falls, husband of the late Florence I. Wildman. Rev. Francis D. Taylor officiated. Burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Wildman, a retired superintendent of the Newton Upper Falls Post Office, died on Jan. 22. He was in his 76th year. A native of Lancaster, England, he came to Newton when a boy. In 1905 he was appointed a clerk at the Auburndale Post Office and later was transferred to Newton Upper Falls.

Mr. Wildman is survived by four sons, Thomas W. and Edward B. Wildman Jr. of Newton Upper Falls; John E. Wildman of Chicago, Illinois; William S. Wildman of Needham Heights, and five daughters, Mrs. Dorothy A. Mirick of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Florence A. Durkee of Newton Upper Falls, Mrs. Mabel F. Hazen of Hopkinton, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Howard of Newton and Mrs. Ruth W. Lassel of Needham.

Charles F. Dolan

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the Thomas J. Lyons Funeral Home, 1479 Washington street, West Newton for Charles F. Dolan of 1387 Washington street, who died on Sunday, January 23, following a long illness.

Mr. Dolan was in his 75th year. He was born in West Newton, the son of James F. and Hannah (Durand) Dolan. He had been employed by the Newton Street Department until he retired about 10 years ago.

He leaves a step-son, Harry F. Daley, and a sister, Mrs. Lillian Happenny of Illinois.

Game Increase

Latest figures just released by the Fish and Wildlife Service show a 25 percent increase in the large-game population in the United States since 1943.

In that year, the figures revealed 6,598,422 large game, whereas, the latest check disclosed recently shows a total of 8,240,000. Of this total, 7,275,000 were various types of deer.

Deer have staged a recovery everywhere including our own state of Massachusetts where we now estimate that we will have nearly 30,000 by mid-summer. In 1915, they hit an all-time low in the United States when the population fell under 3,000,000.

The Wildlife census-takers reveal that the present large-game population is made up of the following: white-tail deer, 4,965,000; mule deer, 2,007,900; Columbian black-tail deer, 402,300; Woodland Caribou, 40; elk, 288,900; moose, 23,300; prong-horned antelope, 233,900; Rocky Mountain Bighorn, 16,000; Desert Bighorn, 7,600; Mountain Goat, 15,700; wild pig, 116,600; European wild boar, 17,000; black bear, 155,100; grizzly bear, 1,400; American bison or buffalo, 5,000. Massachusetts has only .003 percent of this population.

Annual Roundup
Massachusetts sportsmen who attend the annual roundup sponsored by the Massachusetts Fish and Game Association at the Copple Plaza Hotel on Friday evening, February 4, can look forward to a big sports night. Following the supper, where one will have his choice of fish or venison, there will be entertainment by motion pictures featuring Richard Borden's new films on grouse and ducks, also a striped-bass film for rod and reel enthusiasts. "Heat" Underhill will also lecture on "Priceless Pleasure" which will be of interest to local sportsmen.

Pollution Fight
About a year ago, the General Motors Company announced that their company had started a campaign against pollution in all areas where they operated their auto plants. This news was gladly received by all sportsmen since this was the start of something which would help wildlife and bring about better hunting and fishing.

Right here I want to say that the sportsmen has not been the prime factor in the reduction of our wildlife. Pollution has been, by far, the biggest killer. The E. I. du Pont Nemours Company which operates factories all over the country has now followed the precedent set by the General Motors Corporation and have instructed all of their plants to make an immediate study with an eye toward checking pollution in their sections.

In a statement recently issued, the DuPont Company states that while the pollution must be attacked on a national basis, the solution must be found at the local level by towns, cities, industries, and others responsible. Much can be done in this area by local factories to help fight pollution. A good example is right in the Neponset River from Walpole right down into the salt water where the pollution of waters have exterminated every bit of wild life. Have you ever wondered why the fishing in our own Charles River is fast vanishing? This new step by General Motors and DuPont may swing some of the other boys in line.

Pheasant Shooting
Recently, at a local sports club meeting, a very interesting discussion arose concerning pheasant shooting during the past season. The majority of hunters reported very poor hunting, but one individual reported that he had enjoyed his best season this year.

After considerable coaxing, we found that his success was due to his making a careful study of good pheasant coverage prior to the opening of the season. He explained that he had made a very detailed examination of the Game Cover Improvement Program which was started in the Spring by the then Director of Fish and Game, James Power.

At that time, six food patches, totalling ten acres were planted in various sections of the Commonwealth with corn, buckwheat and soy-bean. In conjunction with this program, nine pheasant-release pens were erected on an experimental basis. These consisted of an outer pen and an inner covered pen. The birds were confined to the inner pen for three or four days and then released into the outer pen from which they could disperse into the surrounding cover.

These pheasant-release pens were located fairly close to the food patches in the following towns throughout the state: Grafton, Holden, Lincoln, Holliston, Welfleet, Belchertown, Barnstable, Ludlow, and West Bridgewater. This program was extended again in 1948 and the food patches were enlarged and other food added, such as multicolor rose, silky cornel, and

Dedication Of New School
Rooms To Be Held Sunday
At Presbyterian Church

Sunday will mark a milestone in the history of the First United Presbyterian Church of Newton with the dedication of the new basement Sunday School rooms. The completion of these rooms represents the realization of a dream long standing. They will provide this 102 year old church with a completely modern educational plant which brings the value of its Newton property close to the $1,000,000 mark.

Additional facilities in the form of ten new classrooms, 6 new rooms for various other purposes and two new entrances in addition to new electric wiring and an up-to-date heating and ventilating plant, will enable the church to carry on its Young People's work more effectively and give space for needed expansion.

Very appropriately this new plant is being dedicated on the first Sunday of Youth Week and an outstanding "Youth" speaker in the person of Dr. Charles L. Hussey, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia and Secretary of the Board of Pensions, will bring the message at the morning and evening services on that date, January 30. The dedication service will be held at 12:00 M. during the hour usually reserved for the Sunday School session.

On Tuesday, February 1, the Church will hold "Open House" for all its members and friends program will include messages throughout Greater Boston. The Rev. Burton L. Goddard, D.D., Dean of Gordon College of Theology and Missions and the Rev. Norman MacQueen, D.D., minister of the Clarendon Hill Presbyterian Church in Somerville.

The annual Fellowship Banquet under the auspices of the various Christian Endeavor Societies will be held on Thursday evening at 6:30. The speaker on that occasion will be the Rev. Edwin E. Jacques, minister of the Highland Baptist Church of Fitchburg.

A grand climax for this week comes on Sunday, February 6, in a great Youth service at 7:30 p. m. The speaker will be the Rev. Daniel A. Poling, D.D., President of the World Christian Endeavor Union, of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, and editor of "Christian Herald". Special music will be provided by Miss Evelyn Duncan and a "youth" choir of 50 voices.

Fishing Contest
During the coming week, a Fishing Tackle Digest Contest will be announced which will award one thousand prizes totalling $10,000 worth of merchandise. All of the prizes will be donated by America's leading manufacturers of fishing materials. There is no entry fee, nor is there any necessity for buying anything to enter the contest. Just go into any sports store and pick up an official list of questions on fishing.

I received my list of questions this week, and if you think that you are well versed in the art of fishing, just try answering a few of them. Pick up one of these lists even if you do not intend to enter the contest and test your fishing knowledge.

Tax
Talks

Taxes have made, and are making, a terrific impact on our whole economy, and from 1932 to 1946 have steadily risen to unheard of heights. The Bureau of the Census in "Governmental Revenue in 1947," states that net tax collections in 1947 - Federal, State and Local - totalled forty-nine billion, six hundred million dollars. This is an average of $344 per person in the United States; $257 per person representing Federal tax collections; $47 per person representing State taxes; and $40 per person representing Local taxes. It is interesting to note that for 1948, the tax load approached $377.00 on a per capita basis.

For this year (1949) it is estimated that our government will collect taxes as follows:

From Individuals	43%
From Corporations	27%
From Excise taxes	18%
From Customs, etc.	8%
From Other	4%
Total	100%

This will be spent as follows:

For national defense	29%
For interest and refunds	19%
For international use	17%
For Veterans	16%
For Social, Welfare, etc.	5%
All other	14%
Total	100%

On April 2, 1948, The United Congress passed a new "Revenue Act of 1948," the first act passed since 1932, which substantially decreased taxes. Many doubt the wisdom of this action, but from the taxpayer's point of view, this is definitely a step in the right direction.

The provisions of this law are retroactive to January 1, 1948, with the withholding provision changes made effective May 1, 1948. The use of the new tables promulgated as a result of this law, permit a larger take-home pay to all taxpayers. In a few instances it takes a former taxpayer off the rolls entirely. It should be pointed out here, that the excessive amount of tax withheld during the first four months of 1948, will be refunded after the 1948 return is filed in 1949. For persons filing an Estimated Declaration of Tax, this excessive amount withheld can be used to reduce or eliminate the remaining installments. The last installment on this tax is due January 15, 1949, and at that time it is necessary for all taxpayers to have at least 80 per cent of their 1948 tax paid to avoid penalty.

Air Force Increases
Number of Cadet
Training Classes

The U. S. Air Force is increasing its Aviation Cadet Training Program from three classes to eight classes a year, Major Douglas A. McKillop, Commanding Officer of the Boston Recruiting Station, said here today.

Major McKillop explained that the effect of the change would be to shorten the waiting time between classes for young men who qualify but who have not been accepted because a class was full.

The annual enrollment will be larger than for any previous year, but the size of each class will be reduced.

The next class, beginning April 4, will initiate the expanded program. It will be limited to approximately 600 Cadets. Classes of similar size will follow at approximately six-week intervals. There were 1300 students enrolled in the October class—the last under the March-July-October class system.

Men accepted for Air Force Aviation Cadet training must be between the ages of 20 and 26½ years, with two years of college education or the ability to pass an equivalent examination, and must possess high moral, physical, and personal qualifications.

March-of-Dimes Chairman Urges All-Out Support

The 1949 March-of-Dimes Campaign ends in another four days. Francis Murphy, who heads the Drive reports that the goal for 1949 may still be reached if the citizens of Newton make an all-out effort during the few days left for fund raising.

"When January 31 is passed, Mr. Murphy said, we will know just how well equipped we will be for the hot polio months of summer time. Let us not forget that this eighteen day drive must produce results sufficient to provide care for all those who may be stricken during the entire year."

The local March-of-Dimes Chairman added that the coin collectors will remain in stores and public buildings until the end of the final day of the March-of-Dimes Drive.

"A heavy responsibility rests on the shoulders of every one in our Community," Mr. Murphy said. "That responsibility is to see to it now that every possible aid can be given to our boys and girls next summer should Infantile Paralysis strike at our homes. We hope we may escape this year but hope alone is a fool's weapon. We know that greater contributions to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are needed in its fight to help where polio is already stricken and to carry on the important research which eventually will erase Infantile Paralysis from the list of dangers facing our children."

Only four more days are left to live up to those responsibilities, the March-of-Dimes Chairman pointed out. His appeal to our readers is: "Give to the March-of-Dimes—this year give 50 per cent MORE to this Great Cause."

Move Chevrolet Co. Holds Open House

The Moye Chevrolet showroom on Washington street, Newton Corner, bustled with activity last Friday evening when the '49 line of cars were previewed at a special "open house." Two hundred invited guests inspected the features of the cars, and enjoyed the refreshments that were served afterwards. Of additional interest to those present was the opportunity to watch men from Radio Station WCRB transcribe some of the admiring comments, bits of sales talk, and the purr of the new car's motor. The record was played back over the air the next day.

Quiz Contest For Angier Cubs Stumps Parents Present

Station "TOOLS," Angier School Auditorium, with Professor Fritz Borgman, Cub Dad, as announcer, conducted a 30-minute quiz of 9 to 12 year old Cubs knowledge of "common tools and how to use them," at the Friday evening January 21 Pack No. 10 meeting. Dads and mothers were guessing, too. "Is a pencil a tool?" "Is a divider a compass?" "What is a rat file used for?" "Should any other tool be used for a hammer?" Den Mother Mrs. Kenneth Rogers' 9-year-old Cub, Richard Meehan, outdistanced all Den contestants and won Fritz's personal presentation of an Abraham Lincoln plaster plaque.

It is announced the Cub ice skating carnival to be held Saturday, January 29, at Crystal Lake will be postponed until February 5 at 1 p.m. No ice is in prospect. The Newton Figure Skating Club will present their review of young Newton artists at 2:30 p.m.
